

1 December 2003, Volume 48; Issue 12

HOTEL MONTELEONE EARNS SAFEPLACE ACCREDITATION

SafePlace Corp., an independent provider of safety accreditation for lodging, commercial, healthcare and educational facilities, recently awarded its SafePlace Accreditation to the Hotel Monteleone, a landmark property in New Orleans's French Quarter. The accreditation marks successful completion of SafePlace Corp.'s independent assessment of the hotel's facilities and operation, and signifies the hotel's commitment to maintain the highest levels of security, fire, health and life safety measures that impact its guests, visitors and employees.

"We are proud to be awarded the first SafePlace Accreditation in New Orleans," says Ronald Pincus, vice president of Hotel Monteleone. "The hotel's rich cultural history is complemented by its attention to 21st century safety measures. SafePlace Accreditation will help us convey this commitment to our guests and staff."

The requirements for SafePlace Accreditation are based on codes, standards and recommended practices for security, fire protection, and health and life safety features. These include electronic guest room locking and video surveillance; alarm and sprinkler systems; and health and life safety measures with regard to housekeeping, water/air quality, and food handling and storage. Accreditation requirements also include vigilant employee analysis and education protocols, including background checks and emergency management training. For more information, visit www.safeplace.com or www.hotelmonteleone.com.

Copyright American Society of Safety Engineers Dec 2003